HighTuck Power

The Mach Force-XP exhaust system from Advanced Flow Engineering features 3-inch mandrel-bent 409 stainless steel tubing which the company claims will increase flow over stock by 79-percent and boost power output 13hp and 15ft-lbs of torque. The high-tuck design should clear most lift kits while welded-on bayonet-style hangers and band-style exhaust clamps finish off this high-quality kit. It fits both 2-door and 4-door '07-and-up Wrangler models. Information: Advanced Flow Engineering, 951/493-7100, afepower.com

Light From Above

There aren't very many light bars that you see us write about in this column, and that is because we rarely see light bars for a Jeep that we like. The Delta Skybar features a bolt-in installation with solid 1/2-inch supporting arms, a 13-gauge steel cross bar houses six xenon-powered lights for a total of 330 watts of power. The included double switches and dual wiring allows for variable light control (two, four, or six lights) and includes a built-in visor to eliminate glare and six hard light covers. The Skybar fits '97-'06 Wranglers. Information: Delta Tech Industries LLC, 714/577-8028, deltalights.com
